Technical training in the wood and furniture field

CATAS has always engaged in the dissemination of knowledge to increase the technical and cultural expertise of companies.

CATAS offers a complete training programme to the companies of the wood and furniture sector answering to the needs of the field.

This catalogue of training courses is not meant to be complete. Usually the individual subjects are declined and "custom-tailored", for two reasons:

- the will to propose always updated content;
- the need for a structured training based on the user's needs.

You can also ask training on specific topics.
